MICROSCOPIC DANGER IN FOOD

An example showing that microplastics are taken into our bodies through food as a result of the increasing use of plastic in daily life and the lack of awareness to prevent this situation.

1. Chickens trying to eat a plastic that is unconsciously thrown into the environment, thinking it's food

2.Chicken with microplastic content that is people's food

3.People take microplastics into their bodies with chicken consumption